Objective : Developer

Summary

Over past several years my career has evolved from Call Center operator to C# developer. I got acquainted with IT technologies and with programming in Microsoft Armenia. After finishing the internship, at present I'm a C# back-end developer at BetConstruct. As an active team player, I'm always open to learn and to share knowledge. I hope that my sense of responsibility, hardworking and my ability to find solutions to different situations will be useful in my future projects.
